

ESTIMATED 20,000 VICTORIANS turned out Saturday to cheer wildly for Bert Thomas, conqueror of Juan de Fuca, at victory parade organized overnight by Junior Chamber of Commerce. On Yates Street, enthusiastic spectators were jammed five and six deep along curbs. Photo shows Victoria Girls' Drill Team in transparent rain garb to protect smart uniforms from drizzle. (Times photo.)

PLEDGES HIGH, CASH LOW

$110 Now in Bert Thomas Fund

A mayor's fund started Saturday in appreciation of Bert Thomas' history-making strait swim is making a slow start.

At noon, only $110 had been collected at City Hall.

Funds sent to the Times have been included in the total and transferred to the city clerk's office.

Earlier totals announced several hundred dollars had been given by an appreciative citizenry. But it is now understood that much of this sum was in pledges which are still to be turned in.

Here is the official list of contributors whose donations are recorded at City Hall:

Rex and Margaret Jones, Shawnigan Lake, $2; H. and D.

(ex-Tacoma), Royal Oak, $5; H. C. Hamill, 1023 St. Charles Street, $2; J. W. Blyth, $23 Reed, $1; J. G. Nordin, Victoria Centre Motel Ltd., $100.

The rousing welcome started at the Black Ball Ferries terminal, where the crowd was packed so tightly Bert had difficulty making his way to the waiting car.

Mayor Claude Harrison, Oak Bay Reeve Fred Norris, and Reeve A. C. Wurtele extended greetings. Trade Minister Ralph Chetwynd, representing the provincial government, told Bert he had provided the answer to the question "What happens when an invincible force meets the immovable mass?"

CHEERS, APPLAUDES
Small boys on bicycles took up formation alongside Bert's car as it moved through the streets of Victoria. Many of them carried signs reading "Bert did it."

Unlike most Victoria parade crowds, this one cheered and clapped, and shouted "Way to go, Bert" and "That's a boy, Bert," as his car rolled by.

As he neared the crowd would press forward, many shoving paper and pencil toward him for autographs, others wanting to shake his hand, some just to touch him.

Ticker-tape and waste paper floated from office windows on Douglas Street as the parade passed.

Bert was taken to a clothing store on Douglas Street following the parade, to meet Miss Victoria, Doreen Wells, to whom he remarked "You're sure pretty."

Later, he attended a small reception put on by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, which organized the parade. "Did you ever see a welcome like that?" he asked repeatedly. "All those people, all those wonderful people."

"It was tougher than swimming the strait," said Bert.

FREE TICKETS

The Saturday night "benefit and jamboree" is being organized by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Tickets will be distributed free in downtown stores this week.

Bands and entertainers for the big show are still being arranged for the event. Jaycee officials said the people of Victoria will be invited, during the jamboree, to "show their thanks for the tremendous publicity" the swimmer has brought Victoria. "By giving what they want."

The Musician's Union, and Arena Commission, with the mayor have thrown their support behind the festivities. All money will be turned over to the Mayor's Bert Thomas Fund.

500-POUND SHARK HARPOONED, SHOT

Brentwood Guide Bags 7-Foot Predator

Brentwood fishing guide Jim Gilbert proved he is a "shark-shooter" last Saturday when he tangled with a 500-pound mackerel shark and blasted it with a rifle.

Gilbert first harpooned the seven-footer, then dispatched it with a bullet.

Head of the shark is being sent to the University of B.C., at the request of the School of Fisheries.

Gilbert reports groups of four and five of the sharks on the salmon fishing grounds. "They feed on any schooling fish," he explained. "Mostly, they are taking rock cod and rock bass."

"But occasionally they strike at hooked salmon, or become fouled in gear. And in general, they're plaguing the salmon fishermen."

The shark killed by Gilbert Saturday was only the second taken in the area, he

Suave Japanese Diplomat Here Wants Trade Balance Evened

By TONY DICKASON
Immaculately tailored in approved diplomatic fashion, and generally inscrutable in the best diplomatic tradition, Japan's ambassador to Canada today came close to emotion when it was suggested Japan's "tangerine" oranges have seeds.

"No, no," said he, "I am Dr. Koto Matsudaira, a careful voice rising in injured protest. 'No seeds. None!'"

He was emphatic that Japan produces the best oranges, ever, anywhere. Deluded Canadians eat them only during the Christmas season, whereas the top orange season is February.

The University of Paris educated doctor of laws, orange interest emanates from the need to boost sales to Canadian markets—of oranges or anything else.

TUESDAY MEETINGS
Victoria Kiwanis Club: Empress Hotel ballroom, 12.10 p.m.; inter-club visit from Duncan.

Victoria North Kiwanis Club: Monterey Restaurant, 6.15 p.m.; Barrie E. Gould, speaker, on "Civil Defence."

Recently imported to Japan was $3,000,000 of Canadian rye whisky. To help hit a trade balance, Japan wants to export $3,000,000 of oranges here this year, he said.

When Dr. Matsudaira took office 15 months ago in Ottawa, trade in balance was 11 to one. Today it is five to one which he termed "quite an improvement."

Last year Japan imported $120 million of Canadian goods, and sold only $26 millions.

SHOPS FOR TRADE
The ambassador's job is to shop for more trade, at the diplomatic level.

"We want to export non-competitive goods, steel products such as casing pipes, for example."

B.C. and Alberta should prove a sound market for these, tying in with pipeline developments, he said. Japan can't compete further east in Canada as such goods are cheaper from Europe.

He said Japanese products here "are of very high quality. I've heard no complaints in the last year. But our products should be sold here at higher prices and this in turn would help correct the trade balance."

An interesting aside on the land of the silk-worm is the fact Canadian cellulose is imported to make rayon goods. These in turn are sold to south-eastern Asiatic countries, South America, and even back to Canada, though in small quantity.

Easing of Canadian immigration laws for Japanese?

"That," said the doctor, "is a Canadian matter. Not ours."

Worry in Japan on H-bomb fallout from Siberia or U.S. Pacific tests?

The doctor was very much the diplomat on this one. He said something, but when it was all over he had said nothing.

Tokyo-born, he has been in the diplomatic service for 20 of his 51 years—in Paris, Geneva, Washington, D.C., and Moscow. Considering these hot-spots of international incidents, the doctor looks particularly unworried for a man who has been there—and not always as a friend.

City Objects To Increased Power Rate

The city supported a B.C. Electric Co. application made before the Public Utilities Commission today for permission to erect a 132,000-volt line on steel towers through the Municipality of Saanich.

The application for an overhead line was mainly opposed by the Saanich Voters' Association which requested that the line be laid underground and the costs absorbed by the company.

The proposed line will run from the Goward substation, Interurban Road, to a proposed $1,000,000 substation near Borden Street, in the Lakehill district.

Arthur Patton, city solicitor, said Victoria was against the sinking of the electric cable underground if it meant increased electric rates.

SAANICH BENEFITS

"Why should Victoria be saddled with increased electric rates when the power project is to benefit Saanich?" he asked.

Mr. Patton said only a small group in Saanich opposed the overhead lines and he requested the commission to grant the BCE a certificate of public convenience and necessity which would enable the company to erect the overhead line and the substation.

But W. H. M. Haldane, lawyer for the Saanich Voters' Association, told the three-man commission (Dr. H. F. Angus, chairman, Percy George and D. K. Penfold) his clients were not suggesting that the electric rates be increased to pay for laying the cable underground. "We feel that the BCE should absorb the cost of the project," said Mr. Haldane.

RATES HIGHER HERE

In support of his argument, Mr. Haldane quoted a series of figures which showed that the Victoria electric rates were higher than in many other cities in Canada and the United States. For this reason, he said, he thought the company could absorb the extra costs.

Mr. Haldane said the association was not against the site for the substation. Saanich council did not take a definite stand in the controversial issue which has sizzled for over a year in the municipality.

However, when Acting Reeve George Austin was questioned by Commissioner Angus as to the exact stand of the municipality, Mr. Austin said the council would "prefer" that the line be laid underground.

T. Ingledeu, BCE vice-president, said the length of the line is approximately 3.6 miles and there would be about 25 steel towers to carry the cable from one substation to another.

DEMAND INCREASED

The transmission line was necessary, he said, to meet increasing demands for electricity.

Mr. Ingledeu was asked if the cost of maintaining an underground electric cable was less than an overhead line. He replied that an overhead line was cheaper to repair if there was any trouble.

Main points in a brief by the Saanich Voters' Association against overhead cables were as follows:

1. An overhead line would devalue private property.
2. It would effect future subdivisions in the area where the line is to pass.
3. The effect of the line would be to devalue property and would result in a loss of taxes.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—This is a silly question but please tell me: Do porcupines have long tails like some of the rodents, such as the rats? —F.H.

A.—Your question is answered with brevity by Dr. Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, thus: head and body, 15 to 22 inches; tail, 7 to 9 inches; weight, 10 to 25 pounds. From these figures you may work out the ratio of the length of the tail to the length of the body. Porcupines are found in the forested regions of Canada, abundant in areas, rare in others.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

URANIUM ON DAIRY FARM

They Pay $1 an Hour To Sit in His Ditch

COMANCHE, Tex. (AP)—Jesse Reese is making money these days from the uranium he discovered on his dairy farm without having to sell any of his "pay dirt."

He collects $2 each from 150 persons, seeking relief from aches and pains, who daily are willing to pay for the privilege of sitting for two hours in the uranium-bearing soil.

It was two years ago that Reese discovered uranium on his 216-acre farm. But an assay showed that the uranium content was too low for commercial development so Reese went back to milking his cows.

Last September a stranger knocked on Reese's door.

"If you don't mind, I'd like to sit in your ditch," the man said.

Back home in the state of Washington, he explained, he paid for radiation treatments to relieve rheumatism pains. He had heard about the uranium on Reese's farm and he thought he might get the same benefit from Reese's uranium ditch.

"Go ahead and sit," Reese told him.

The word got around and others came asking to sit in the ditch. Reese let them sit. The sitters increased. They left gates open and trampled crops.

So Reese built a shed in his back yard large enough for six persons to sit on two benches. On the benches, and floors and behind the walls he poured the mineral-loaded dirt. He said anybody who wanted to could sit in his dirt for the price of $2 for two hours.

"I thought that would keep them away," he said.

The first week one person paid the $2. Then more started coming.

By June of this year people were standing in line to get into the shed. Reese called in carpenters and expanded the shed to 10 times its original size.

Now an average of 150 persons visit Reese's shed daily and even the new shed isn't big enough. Reese is having his dairy barn converted—he's sold his milk cows since the uranium rush has started—and is fixing it up to handle more visitors.

PNGA Opens Minus Fleming

SEATTLE (AP)—The 54th Pacific Northwest Golf Association tournament opened here today with the area's top golfers gunning for the crown won last year by Bob Fleming of Victoria.

Fleming was not on hand to defend his title but the field—one of the largest in years—included most of the other best campaigners from California, as well as the U.S. northwest.

The entire field plays 18 holes of qualifying medal play today and 18 on Tuesday. The low 64 qualifiers the first two days will play 18 holes Wednesday and Thursday.

The low eight qualifiers will begin 36-hole match play tests Friday and Saturday. The championships are slated Sunday.

3 Countries Join To Study Fishery

Three thousand men in 30 ships will take part this summer in an oceanography project designed to secure maximum sustained productivity of North Pacific fisheries.

Canada, the United States and Japan, signatories to the International North Pacific Fisheries Convention, will take part. "We are seeking fish on high seas not yet exploited," said Dr. John P. Tily, Nanaimo, head of Canada's Pacific oceanographic group.

OLD RESIDENCE
Last monarch to reside in the Tower of London was James I, who reigned from 1603 to 1625.

CITY NUDIST ELECTED NATIONAL SECRETARY

George Luff of Victoria, was named western secretary of the Canadian Sunbathing Association at the two-day national convention of the nudist organization held at North Vancouver this week-end.

Several Victorians attended the meeting. Delegates included representatives from branch organizations in Washington State, Oregon and the Prairie and eastern provinces.

Highlight of the convention was the crowning of a nudist king and queen from the North Vancouver Van Tan Club. The pair remained anonymous because they feared "public prejudice" would jeopardize their jobs.

RICHARDSON TAKES TITLE

BAASTAD, Sweden (AP)—Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., defeated Mervyn Rose of Australia, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, Sunday to win the men's singles title of the Swedish International tennis tournament.

Sunburn Pain Disappears Smooth Tan Emerges Without Peeling or Blistering

Science Discovers New Ointment That Instantly Stops Pain of Sunburn... Turns Redness Into Comfortable Tan

Toronto, Ont. (Special): A leading research institution has discovered a new medical substance that instantly stops pain of sunburn... and prevents blistering or peeling, so angry redness may turn to handsome, comfortable tan.

Doctors know sunburn affects skin just as ordinary burns do. They also know the body needs oxygen for healing burns. The secret of this new substance is its astonishing ability to draw healing oxygen and nutrients directly from blood-stream into sunburned area. Thus, sunburned skin heals completely and, except in unusual cases, smooth tan emerges.

This substance is known as Sperti Ointment. Sperti Ointment does not sting or stain. Now sold at all drug stores for $1.19 a large tube. Buy Sperti Ointment with amazing guarantee that your sunburn will turn to handsome tan, or your money is refunded.

Qualicum Beach Rotarians Plan Salmon Derby

QUALICUM BEACH—A one-day salmon derby will be staged by Qualicum Beach Rotary Club in connection with their annual auction and rummage sale on Aug. 6.

Prize of $25 is offered for the largest fish taken on that day. The club also is giving away a 14-foot Chris-Craft boat with 7½-h.p. outboard motor and boat trailer.

Through canvassing will not begin officially until July 15, donations for the sale are coming in already and all signs point to good local support again.

For the past three years sales proceeds, amounting to around $2,000 each year, have been used to finance the club's beach development project, now complete.

This year the project is the development of an airstrip, situated less than two miles south-east of the village. The department of lands has granted a reserve on the property for the purpose.

He was reported in satisfactory condition at Lourdes Hospital here.

Hoist Blamed For Duncan Truck Death

DUNCAN—Failure of the hoist on a dump truck was responsible for the death of Stephen Chumick, 41, at his farm Thursday night, a coroner's jury decided here Saturday.

Only witness to the accident was his widow, Pearl, who told the jury she had been helping her husband to dump a load of gravel at the Hadwen Holly Farm, Lake Road. As she told the jury how he had started the hoist to raise the box on the truck, she broke down and was not able to continue.

A neighbor, Cyril Fernie, who gave assistance, said he found Chumick crushed under the front end of the dump box between the box and truck frame. A second neighbor, Arrie Zyvenburg, said he operated the hoist to raise the box so the body could be freed.

Mr. Zyvenburg suggested that the box had failed to lift high enough, and that Chumick had attempted repairs. The victim had grease on his left hand, he said.

Funeral services were held today. Born in Saskatchewan, Chumick had lived here for 15 years and was employed at Bamberton. His parents live in Vancouver.

Mr. McLellan also will act as inspector for Belmont Park and Sooke District 62. His headquarters will be in Victoria.

Highway Death Car Identified

Inquest Tuesday Into Fatality; Police in Alberni Halt Search

ALBERNI—An automobile has been found in connection with the highway death Saturday morning of Albert R. J. Adang, 40, of Port Alberni. His body was found at 1:30 in Port Alberni Wednesday at a.m. on the Beaver Creek road 2 p.m.

The accident victim is survived by his widow and four stepsons here, and brothers in Winnipeg. He had lived here eight years.

It was first suspected the case was a hit and run, and an alert was sent to all Island police to watch for a car with a damaged right front fender. Police are withholding the name of the driver concerned pending an inquest Tuesday night.

Police said they are sure the identity of the car responsible is established. Only one car was involved, they believe, and consider the case cleared to their satisfaction.

WAS BUS DRIVER

Body of Adang, a part-time bus driver for Vancouver Island Coach Lines, was found a few feet from his car.

Stanley Sustersich discovered the body and reported the accident to police.

An inquest that opened Saturday night will continue Tuesday. The funeral will be held

Clemency Refused Blonde Murderess

LONDON (AP)—Ruth Ellis today lost her last chance to escape the gallows for murdering her lover as the home secretary turned down pleas for clemency on behalf of the beautiful 28-year-old ex-model.

The date of her execution was fixed for 8 a.m. Wednesday morning at Holloway prison.

Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd-George, who has the final say on recommending royal clemency in capital cases, considered petitions containing more than 2,000 signatures urging him to reprieve Mrs. Ellis.

Lloyd-George ruled: "There are not sufficient grounds to recommend any interference with the due course of the law." Friends who visited Mrs. Ellis during the week-end in her prison "death row" cell said she told them:

"I am quite content to die."

A last-minute batch of petitions seeking a reprieve were sent to Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd-George today.

MOTHER OF TWO

The Ellis case has aroused Britain in a big debate over the issue of capital punishment.

Mrs. Ellis, mother of two young children, has made no move to appeal the sentence of death by hanging.

Mrs. Ellis was convicted of shooting her lover, racing motorist David Blakely, 25, on Easter Sunday in a fit of jealousy after he jilted her.

MISSION CITY, B.C. (CP)—A bullet wound in her head, Mrs. Ross Styles, 47, of Hatzic Prairie, stood at the kitchen sink in her home washing her face while she awaited the arrival of an ambulance and police.

She had walked from the barn on her farm home, where she was found by her 14-year-old son, who called police. She was at the sink when police arrived.

She told the officers she had tried to commit suicide. The wound was between her eyes, just above the bridge of the nose.

Mrs. Styles was taken to hospital in Vancouver by ambulance and she was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Gas Flames Kill Man At Langford

A middle-aged Langford man who was turned into a human torch when his clothing caught fire was burned to death near his home in a tragic accident Sunday at about 5:30 p.m.

Dead is James Milton Ellingson, 50, Huddfield Road, Langford.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart said today he had held an inquiry into the death. He ruled it accidental.

The accident apparently occurred while Mr. Ellingson was cleaning paint brushes and paint cans with white gas on vacant property behind his home.

Colwood RCMP said the man ran about 60 feet into an open field after his clothing caught fire. Clothing was completely burned from his body.

FOUND BY WIFE

He was discovered lying in the field by his wife, Beatrice. There was no eye-witness to the tragedy.

RCMP were called by a neighbor and Dr. E. L. McNiven was rushed from Victoria under police escort from three forces.

He pronounced life extinct on his arrival.

RCMP said matches and cigarette butts were found near the scene of the fatality.

HAD GALLON OF GAS

Mr. Ellingson had left his duplex home earlier with a gallon bottle of gas. He said he was going out to clean paint brushes.

RCMP believe the bottle may have exploded or he may have dropped it, spreading gas over his clothing.

Mr. Ellingson's wife and neighbors did not hear an out-cry.

A daughter, Mrs. Peter Hitchcock, and her husband occupy one-half of the duplex. They were away when the accident took place.

Mr. Ellingson was a resident of this area for 12 years and was employed by Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. as a shipwright.

He is survived by his wife, Beatrice; three daughters, Mrs. Jean Marsh, Mrs. Avis Fishley, Mrs. Patty Hitchcock; his mother, Mrs. John Ellingson, Moose Jaw, Sask.; two sisters, Mrs. F. LeGoff, Vancouver, and Mrs. A. McRae, Mortlach, Sask., and six grandchildren.

He was a member of the United Centennial Church and the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Funeral arrangements will be announced later from Sands Mortuary Ltd.

New Rioting By Catholics In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's uneasy church-state truce was jarred Sunday as police and firemen routed Roman Catholic rioters staging their second anti-Peron demonstration in 24 hours.

The riot landed 13 policemen and firemen in hospitals and brought condemnation of the demonstrators from Santiago Cardinal Copello, ailing archbishop of Buenos Aires who has urged a peaceful course in the dispute.

Sixty persons were arrested but many were released after questioning.

In the first violence since the bloody June 16 revolt against President Juan Peron, more than 500 demonstrators milled through the Plaza de Mayo near the Metropolitan Cathedral. Police trying to disperse the crowd were stoned.

Firemen quickly moved in, sprayed the rioters with chemical foam and brown-tinted water as police wagons rushed to the square.

TUNNEL CAVES; THIRTEEN DIE

KYOTO, Japan (AP)—Thirteen workmen were trapped by a cave-in Sunday in a water tunnel feeding a power plant at Otsu. All were believed dead.

Police said some probably were crushed to death and others presumably were drowned in water backed up in the clogged tunnel.

Faint cries for help stopped late Sunday night, five hours after the cave-in.

Oak Bay Youth Dead After Rifle Mishap

Victim of a freak accident in Friday Harbor, San Juan Island, Saturday, his eighteenth birthday, Donald F. Munro, 1318 Beach Drive, Oak Bay, died in Seattle Swedish Hospital, Sunday evening, of a bullet wound in the head.

One of a party of six that left Royal Victoria Yacht Club Saturday in two boats for a week-end trip, young Munro received his fatal wound 4.40 p.m. that day when he was walking with his companions from the shipway at Friday Harbor.

One of the party was taking the shells out of a .22-calibre rifle as a precaution before walking through the town when his finger accidentally touched the trigger. One cartridge had been left in the rifle and it exploded sending the bullet into Munro's head.

BULLET REMOVED

A U.S. Coast Guard plane flew him to Seattle where he was operated on by Dr. Malcolm Heath who had accompanied him from San Juan Island. The bullet was removed from behind his forehead and Sunday morning Munro was reported in fair condition.

His father, William Munro, a prominent city businessman, flew to Seattle and was with his son when he died at 7.40 p.m. Sunday.

Besides Munro in the party, on what was said to be a rabbit-shooting trip, were Robert Straith, 2760 Burdick; Bert Cuppage, 2554 Bowker; Eric Clark, 2240 McNeill; Peter White and Hamish Redford, 105 Beach Drive who was carrying the fatal weapon.

After the wounded youth was flown to Seattle 40 minutes after the accident, the five returned home.

Born in Victoria, the dead youth attended Glenlyon and Oak Bay High Schools, had taken junior matriculation and was planning to enter Victoria College for a general arts course.

He was prominent in sports, playing on the Oak Bay High soccer and junior rugby teams. His chief interest in sports, however, was golf, and he was well known as a junior member of the Oak Bay Golf Club.

He had been working for three weeks prior to his fatal accident at the Sidney Roofing Company and Friday had drawn his first pay cheque.

The dead youth is survived, besides his parents by an elder brother, John Douglas and a sister, Michal.

Funeral service will be held Wednesday at 1.30 from the B.C. Funeral Chapel.

Second Sister Charged With Poisoning Spouse

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP)—A woman whose sister is serving a life sentence for poisoning her husband was charged late Sunday with murder in the poisoning of her own husband.

Mrs. Raymond Ashdown, 35, was named in the complaint filed by A. M. Marsden, Iron County attorney. A coroner's jury earlier had ruled her husband, the father of seven children, died Tuesday of strychnine poisoning.

Mrs. Elizabeth L. Lacey Ashdown is serving a life sentence in the Idaho state penitentiary after conviction of the murder of Vivian Ashdown in 1949. Vivian was Raymond's brother and the Mrs. Ashdowns are sisters.

Arthur Nelson, sheriff of Iron County, said the Cedar City woman told of putting "five or six grains of strychnine in his lemon juice."

Yippee! Bert's Going to Stampede Calgary In First Round of Personal Appearances

Bert Thomas is going to the Calgary Stampede, at the personal invitation of Cowtown's colorful Mayor Don McKay.

And no one need be surprised if the conqueror of the Strait of Juan de Fuca straddles a bronc, swings a lasso over his head in a professional manner, and takes out after the galloping dogs.

Bert is a rodeo fan from 'way back, and he's done his share of "ridin' and ropin'." He has his own horse, one he wishes he could take with him to the Stampede, which opened today in the Alberta city.

The Stampede invitation arose during a three-way telephone conversation over radio station CKDA Sunday night. Disk-jockey Norm Pringle got Mayor Claude Harrison, Bert, and Mayor McKay together on the phone.

McKay told Bert "we would sure like to have you" and Bert said he "would sure like to come."

FLYING VISIT

To make the engagement, Bert will have to fly to and from Calgary. He will drive to Victoria from Chehalis, Washington, Thursday, fly directly to Calgary and spend all day Friday at the Stampede.

On Saturday morning, he will board a plane to return to Victoria, for a big celebration at Memorial Arena.

Today, Bert and wife Marian are making a personal appearance at the Hudson's Bay store here. Mrs. Thomas will receive a gift of four martens from the store.

Tuesday, Bert will return to his home-town, Tacoma, Washington, for a big victory parade. And Wednesday, he is taking a break, spending the

UNTIL SOMEONE BEATS BERT'S TIME

'Old Man Juan de Fuca Can Rest in Peace'

Bert Thomas has dropped plans to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca from the Victoria side.

"I'll probably be back for it sometime," Bert said this morning, "but I'm not going to try it until someone other swimmer beats my time."

The swimmer said less than an hour after his crossing of the Strait Friday morning that he was going back in later this month to swim from Victoria to Port Angeles.

Bert's time, 11 hours, 17 minutes and 30 seconds, will stand as a goal for other swimmers to aim at. His navigators had said it would take "at least 12 hours," on the best course they could plot.

Wife Marion is against a second attempt. "I don't see why he should," she said. "The Strait didn't defeat him. But if somebody breaks his time, he'll be back for it."

Until then, as Bert put it, "Old Man Juan de Fuca can rest in peace."

day with brother Bob Thomas at Chehalis.

Bert's fishing trip to Campbell River looks a long way off. He is swamped with offers to do everything from wrestling alligators to appearing at a Davy Crockett premiere.

SEAFAR SWIM

The Kelowna regatta, in the second week of August is one event he probably will attend, and Bert is thinking of either swimming across the lake "on my back" or getting a frogman rig and making the crossing underwater.

He also has a six-mile swim coming up at the Seattle-Tacoma Seafair, later this month.

The burly swimmer has not decided whether to attend the CNE, for the Lake Ontario swim.

The first man to swim across the 18.3 miles separating Victoria from Port Angeles today is still talking up the uproarious welcome extended him Saturday by the citizens of Victoria.

30,000 WOW BERT

Bert drove through the streets of his adopted city to the cheers and applause of a crowd estimated at 20,000. Beside him in the open convertible was trainer Ove Witt.

Mrs. Thomas and daughter Sharon Lee followed in another car.

Immediately ahead of Bert's car a mobile loudspeaker unit played the Marine's Hymn, the same tune which blared from boat's radios in the Strait of Juan de Fuca the night of his historic swim.

Bert laughed and cried as he waved at the crowd, occasionally jabbing Ove Witt in the ribs with the exclamation: "Look at that, Ove!"

Predictions had been that Early Wynn of Cleveland Indians would get the nod as American League starter.

3-Way Reform of Senate Suggested

Vancouver Gas Station Held Up

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A masked gunman today stole $125 after holding up a Texaco service station and wounding one of his victims.

Police picked up a suspect about an hour after the robbery.

England Faces Defeat in Third Test

MANCHESTER, England (Reuters)—England struggled to avoid defeat against South Africa on the fourth day of the third test cricket match here today in spite of a fine century by captain, Peter May and a sparkling 71 by Denis Compton.

At the close, England, which won the first two Tests, was only 13 runs ahead with six second-innings wickets standing. With one day left for play, England was 250 for four in its second innings.
